Details of the event:

Outcome-Based Education (OBE) is a student-centric learning philosophy that focuses on measurable outcomes. This approach shifts the emphasis from what teachers teach to what students are expected to learn and demonstrate. Awareness of OBE is critical for effective implementation in educational institutions.

Increasing awareness of Outcome-Based Education is essential for transforming educational practices and enhancing the quality of graduates. Institutions must take proactive steps to educate all stakeholders about OBE to ensure successful implementation and alignment with global standards.

How it Works

- Define Program Outcomes (POs) and Course Outcomes (COs).
- Curriculum Design Based on Outcomes
- Teaching and Learning Activities
- Assessment of Outcomes
- Evaluation and Mapping
- Continuous Improvement
- Accreditation and Quality Assurance

Activity Conducted:

In Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering.
